

Briefing sheet for on-the-day support at events

Community activities are an effective way for us to raise awareness, fundraise and engage with different communities. Activities range from health and wellbeing events and awareness days to fundraising activities and events.

What's involved

On-the-day support might involve helping to run an information or awareness stand, registering and welcoming people to an event, stewarding, taking part in a fundraising collection, or joining a cheer team giving our event participants the loudest cheers as they take on a run, cycle or other challenge.

You can give an hour, a morning or an afternoon, or the whole day, depending on the type of event and your availability.

Additional information to read here:

- Health, safety and wellbeing
- Personal safety checklist
- Sharing information responsibly

What you need to know

- You will be supporting a member of Lymphoma Action staff or a lead volunteer on the day of the event. They will welcome you, provide an overview for your role and support you as you carry out your volunteering.
- We will also provide you with an activity brief before the day, with the information you'll need to know to take part.
- We will provide you with the resources and equipment you'll need on the day, so all you need to do is turn up!